I am glad to report the large Collection which I was able to obtain by the cooperation of all the Tax Payers.

Up to date for this Month we have over $4,500 for 1916 account.

On trying to close the books up to 1913 was compelled to advertise two pieces of property, after every effort to have the owners settle their taxes, had failed.

The 1913 book will have to be closed this year and hope all that owe any taxes for 1913 will help me keep from advertising their property.

Yours very truly,

LESTER R. GERALD,
Tax Collector.

Report of the School Committee

To the Citizens of Wayland,

Economy in school administration should always be measured by the results obtained. Education, an ever changing and always broadening line of endeavor, should never be made to suffer by a too narrow sense of economy for thereby we might defeat the end which we are seeking.

Because of Wayland's liberal attitude toward the schools we have buildings that are a credit and an ornament to the town, far more comfortable and better fitted than most of our neighboring cities and towns. Because of the good taste and generosity of some of our town's people the buildings are artistic and appeal to the children.

But teachers are the prime requisite of a school. As their years of service increase so does their value in any school system and so in common justice should their salaries increase.

It is the aim of your Committee to so encourage teachers as to establish a solid and result-getting system of education, to increase if possible the attractiveness and comfortableness of the buildings, and to advance conservatively educationally—this requires money.

We wish the people would read carefully the report of the superintendent of schools and other officers: that especial attention be given to that part of the superintendent's report wherein he refers to the heating and ventilating of the Wayland building.

Not only are cracked furnaces wasteful and unhealthy, but the roaring fires necessary at times to properly heat the building are a menace to life and property. Knowing the pressing nature of the town's needs in other directions your Committee will refrain from asking for an appropriation for a heating plant as long as the janitor's ingenuity can keep the furnaces together. When he fails we hope that the people will co-operate with us and secure a plant that will be a credit and a saving to the town.

It is the opinion of the Committee that the agricultural course does not fill any urgent need in this town and we recommend that it be discontinued.

The Playground Association was allowed to use the basement of the Wayland School during the summer vacation.

The good that can be accomplished by a supervisor of playgrounds cannot be over-estimated. On the playground better than elsewhere can be taught the spirit of fair play, the power of team work, and the great value of repeated and sustained effort. The idle hours are the mischief breeding ones.

Most all cities and towns are now maintaining playground supervision. Because of the zeal and generosity of Mrs. Walter B. Henderson, Wayland's children enjoyed this privilege last summer. It is the wish and recommendation of your Committee that the people give the Playground Association their hearty support. A report of the Association is included in this report.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP S. IDE, Chairman,
GEORGE F. POUTASSE, Secretary,
ERNEST E. SPARKS.

Report of Director of Playground Association

Mention of the Playground should be made in this report. The facts in brief are as follows :

The equipment, director and assistants cost close to $300.

There were over eighty children who participated in the activities of the Playground. The average attendance was over fifty.

There were but two contributions received, one of $25 and another of $2. Further contributions would be welcome.

It is the desire of those interested in the Playground to be ready to open it up promptly at the close of school and continue until Labor Day. In order to continue this work an appropriation is necessary.

It has been found most desirable to have school children have supervision in their play, during the long vacation, and wherever possible, either vacation schools or Playgrounds have been established.

Wayland is fortunate in having such an exceptionally beautiful Playground at its disposal.

Only those who spent the summer there will know how much some kind of a building is needed, but no doubt that will come in time.

J. L. C. HENDERSON,
A Director of the Playground Association.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the Wayland School Committee,

Gentlemen:—The eighteenth annual report of the Superintendent of Schools is now due. I take pleasure in presenting my sixth annual report. Your attention is especially directed to the reports of Attendance Officers, School Physician, Special Teachers, and High School Principal.

School reports are generally more or less of a formality. Efforts are frequently made to lift them out of the ordinary by a discussion of some pedagogical or psychological phase of education, or by outlining a policy of progressive education, or by elucidating some administrative policy of local interest only, or by defending some administrative or educational policy that is being tried out and under severe criticism.

We have no new policy to defend or to outline and discussions of pedagogy and psychology are not believed to be pertinent to the occasion, hence this report meets the intention, simply ordinary and to a considerable degree a formality.

The Junior High School concerning which there is so much said of late and which is being adopted as a part of the administrative plans in several localities does not seem a possible feature in our school system for some years on account of the building and transportation problems, the latter of which is costly and the former a fixed matter until such time as our population makes altered or increased housing conditions imperative.

An examination of the vocational activities in school administration is a matter well worth your attention. It is some years since the first work of this kind was introduced into the schools of Wayland and since that time no advancement has been made with the exception of extending the shop work somewhat.

The boys of the four upper grammar grades and those of the Freshman and Sophomore high school classes have been given shop work, the course offering lessons in wood handicraft. The girls of the four upper grammar grades have been given lessons in sewing and to a small extent lessons in cutting and fitting. The high school does not offer courses in vocational work to the girls unless we choose to call the Commercial Course of this type.

There are seventy-six boys taking Manual Training this year. The yearly cost of this instruction is approximately $580. This sum includes cost of instruction, cost of lumber and other material, upkeep of equipment, and transportation of Cochituate classes from the Grammar School. There might be added a proportion of the heating and janitor expense, and a proportion of the interest on the plant. The yearly cost per pupil is $7.63 on this basis. The cost per lesson per boy is $.20. Some of the articles made are of considerable value. No accounting has been made of this value in estimating the cost of the course per pupil.

There are fifty-six girls taking the courses offered in sewing. These courses are given by girls from Framingham Normal School who are ready for practice teaching. The room teacher supervises the room and the girls are carefully supervised by the Normal School. This service cost the town the sum of $36.60 the past year. This amount is the sum paid by the Normal School for transportation of our practice teachers. The cost per pupil for the year is $.65. The cost per lesson per pupil is $.01½. The town has not furnished any of the materials necessary for this work and our equipment has been brought from home with the exception of one sewing machine which was purchased with funds raised for the purpose by the Cochituate School.

Funds are on hand for another machine and three cutting tables which have been ordered. Two machines and some cutting tables are needed for the Wayland School.

It is fair to observe that this department should be as well supported by the town as are the vocational courses for the boys. We may well ask if we should not give some vocational work for the girls of the high school as well? Lessons in household arts may be given the girls as are the sewing lessons.

Last year the town appropriated the sum of $200 that Wayland might become a part of a district for the purpose of increasing agricultural interest on the part of our boys and girls. This district was under the direction of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, the United States Department of Agriculture and in part supported by them. The towns of Natick, Wayland, Framingham, Sherborn, Holliston, and Middlesex County Training School united in employing F. A. Castle to conduct the work of home and school gardening with side projects such as poultry raising and pig culture.

Mr. Castle's report is incorporated in this report.

The results have not been commensurate with the expenditure nor do they promise to be. The interruptions to the school work have been considerable but have been so managed that we feel the educational side of the project has offset the losses to other work.

We should understand in judging the work that it is of an educational nature and so cannot be measured in the dollars and cents measure so that the actual products of the children are very much secondary. We must take into consideration also the fact that this line of education is in its infancy and will be much improved later.

In my opinion the projects have been too large for the ordinary boy or girl to begin on. Had the work been well established previously the older ones could well have undertaken the larger projects. The prize giving element is a hindrance to the educational value for I firmly believe that a thing once started should be completed in order to have good educational results. As soon as a project began to show signs of not being in the hopeful prize class it was allowed to fade away in a swamp of weeds and neglect, not in every case but too often.

There is need of a strong home interest before this kind of work can succeed and a strong home organization to push the work for all work of an educational sort needs close follow up work and interest. We have not had this interest or this organization and the regular teachers have not had time and energy for such work. We have reason to doubt the value of this extension work for Wayland even if pushed vigorously. Because it is valuable in one community does not insure its value in a community of this sort.

The District or County Vocational school offering courses in agriculture and domestic science suited to the farm home is an institution that can give the agricultural instruction needed by those of communities like this and others differently organized who may wish such instruction and it is an institution that can reach out for the extension work needed by those who are not able to leave the home or who wish only part courses.

We have tried to take advantage of the Agricultural College extension work of Club Canning offered girls or boys. Here too the follow-up work must be done after the demonstrator has been and formed the Club and given the demonstration lesson. In fact few girls can take one lesson and recall enough definitely to give courage to tackle a very hard canning proposition at home.

This year for the first time two of our students have taken advantage of the act which permits students to attend State Aided Vocational Schools at the expense of the resident town. Two girls are attending the Newton Vocation School and Wayland must pay the tuition of $150 each per year. The State reimburses for half that amount.

The following report as to expenditures of the school funds in my hands is herewith submitted:

Cochituate Sewing Machine Fund:

Amount Received		$61.26
Expenses—Hall	$4.50
Tickets	2.75	7.25

Net Assets	$54.01
April 10, 1915, Cash for Singer Sewing Machine	23.04
Balance on Hand	30.97

One more machine and three cutting tables have been ordered in accordance with your direction.

Gift of Class of 1915 to Cochituate School:

Amount of gift	$21.00
Cash for stereoscopes and views	$21.00

Wayland Rest Room Fund

Net Receipts	$45.25
Cash for Art Square	$17.50
Cash for Settle Cushion	13.25
Cash for curtains	8.38
Cash for finishing materials	5.66
Other expenses	.46
	45.25

The boys of the grammar room of the last school year merit much commendation for their able work in cleaning the walls and ceiling of the rest room and for their work in tinting same. Previous high school classes of the manual training courses merit commendation for work in making the settle and a chair while the young ladies of the grammar room made the curtains.

The piano fund now amounts to $98.36. This sum is the gift to the High School from the classes of 1913, 1914, and the proceeds of an entertainment and the interest to date. The condition of the piano is such that the school needs an instrument of fair grade very much. It will also be an acquisition to the hall for all gatherings. Some means should be taken for adding to this fund enough to place at your disposal a sufficient sum to purchase an instrument, either a new one of good grade or one of the many second-hand instruments of better grade that has not been used to injure its tone or materially lessen its wearing qualities. I understand that the present Senior Class contemplates adding to this fund to a goodly measure.

The furnaces of the Wayland heating plant give us much anxiety as well as the ventilating system in its decadent days. We shall be fortunate if we do not some day find that schools must be closed indefinitely while extensive repairs are made on this plant. The hot water heater that was put in last winter is of great assistance in warming the building but it is not adequate and it adds nothing to the ventilating of the rooms.

I believe that if the parents really knew the conditions under which their boys and girls work even after the janitor has done his best and the teachers have done their best as to ventilating their rooms that we should have no question in regard to getting something done. The boys and girls of the high school are called upon to sit in rooms that are overheated one period and go to another room for the next period with the temperature perhaps fifteen degrees less. Room B is often eighty with windows opened as much as it is possible to have them and not have students in drafts. The next period they may be called upon to sit in room E with the temperature at sixty or seventy with windows closed and all possible heat turned on. Or if the heat is shut off in room B the temperature may fall ten degrees in as many minutes, even more. These extremes are in cold weather of course but not uncommon during the winter months. The mixing of cold and hot air cannot be controlled from the rooms and a visit to the basement or a call upon the janitor must be made in order to do this. Cold fresh air cannot be admitted except through the windows. Consequently the teachers have to control the ventilation and temperature of their rooms by the window method. The rooms of the second and third floors are the most seriously hampered in these matters.

Fire drills have been established in the Wayland school. For some years effective drills have been the regulation in the Cochituate school. This subject has been before previous committees for discussion but an effective signalling system has not as yet been established in the Wayland building without which a drill cannot be made of great service in time of need. Hence I have not forced the teachers to hold a drill that could be only partially successful and orderly. In establishing the one now in force it has been done in the expectation that either an electric system for this purpose would be established or a gong system if more desirable. Our present drills can not be of great service until some such signalling system is established in this building. The electric system will cost in the vicinity of $100 if the lighting of the upper floor and one or two rooms as you have suggested are carried out.

As a matter of safety there should be a means supplied for lighting the third floor. The passage from the laboratory to the stairs that lead to the manual training room is always dark. This is a passage for use in case the laboratory should be cut off from room B, a very possible occurrence in case of fire.

I have mentioned the foregoing conditions for the safety of the children of Wayland. If present conditions are satisfactory to the parents and community the teachers and myself are ready to make such conditions as safe and sane as possible and believe that the same is being done.

In behalf of the teachers I wish to thank the parents for their cordial and generous support in trying times and fair weather, to thank the Committee for its willingness to know all about the school affairs and to pass with calm and decisive judgment upon all necessary evils and benefits, and I also wish to express my appreciation of the spirit of the teachers toward their children and to say that it is my belief that they work earnestly and consistently for the good of every child.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK H. BENEDICT.

Report of Principal of High School

Mr. Frank H. Benedict, Superintendent of Schools,

Dear Sir:—My fifth annual report of Wayland High School is herewith submitted for your consideration.

The total enrolment of the High School is sixty-nine, of whom twenty-eight are in the entering class. It is encouraging that so many of the grammar school graduates avail themselves of a high school training. On the whole, this class is better prepared than any which has entered the high school during my administration. After four years' experience in your schools with the opportunity given me to observe the ability of the pupils to pursue successfully high school work, it is my opinion that the grades are each year gaining a higher efficiency.

Of the twelve graduates from the high school last June, nine are attending higher institutions of learning;—Tufts College, Boston University Law School, Framingham Normal School, Wentworth Institute, Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten Training School, and Burdett's and Bryant and Stratton's Business Colleges.

Eighteen of the twenty-eight pupils of the entering class have elected the College Preparatory Course. This fact is significant as it shows a growing tendency to plan and prepare for training beyond the high school course. This is as it should be for the high school is not really a finishing school. During the last four years sixty-three per cent of the graduates of Wayland High School have entered college, normal school, or school of special advanced training. We now have pupils at Harvard, Radcliffe, Tufts, Boston University, and Boston University Law School.

Wayland is to be congratulated upon the record made by one of its students who, after three years at Wayland High School and one year at Cambridge High and Latin School entered Harvard College last September with Honor grades in all his entrance examinations.

Whereas I believe that the high school has never been better equipped to prepare students for college, the fact remains that pupils can obtain a satisfactory preparation only by hard, consistent work through each year of their course. In order that the privileges of college certification may be extended, our graduates now in college should obtain the best possible records.

Parents may do much by co-operating with the teachers in obtaining more regular attendance, more home study, and in reducing to a minimum unnecessary detractions from school work.

The upper classes had intended to present plays during the coming winter but may not be able to carry out their plans because of lack of an available hall. There is at present, no hall in town suitable for dramatics and with adequate fire protection as required by state law.

I wish to thank you and the School Committee for your cordial support during the past year, and the teachers for their earnest co-operation in making this school an efficient agent in the community.

Respectfully submitted,

W. HERBERT MOORE,

Principal of High School.

Report of Supervisor of Drawing and Manual Training

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I take pleasure in submitting my report on the manual training and drawing in the schools of Wayland.

The work in this department is progressing along similar lines to those of the past. The size of the classes has increased and the general interest in the subject is at its best.

Last year a course in metal work was introduced in the High School. The work was first started with a class of girls. A few of the boys have become interested and the work has been combined with the wood work and some very creditable models have been made. The girls have been most interested in making jewelry articles, such as rings, stick-pins, and bar-pins; several pupils have brought in jewelry to repair. With the wood work, hinges and box corners have been designed, also electric light shades of metal combined with a wood base.

The High School class in wood work has been especially good this year, and quite a few creditable pieces of cabinet work are under way. Several girls have elected the subject, and the classes have been so crowded that they have been obliged to take their periods with the grade boys whenever there was a vacant bench.

The course in drawing is slightly changed from year to year to hold the interest. The work in the lower grades is confined to simple drawing in two dimensions, paper cutting and easy construction. With the upper grades the work has been correlated as much as possible with the regular studies, designing initial letters, illustrations and cover designs for their composition work. The latter part of the year will be devoted to design, color theory and nature study.

The High School work in Mechanical Drawing has consisted of working drawings of machine and building construction, and pen and ink rendering.

The freehand drawing class have been working on nature study and design to be applied to light shades, stencils and tooled leather.

An advanced class has been formed of girls who wish to develop their talent to a greater degree of perfection. The interest in the subject has been excellent, our great handicap being lack of a suitable workroom. It is hoped that a special room may at some time be available where students may carry on their work without interruption, thus enabling the pupil preparing for advanced schools to become more proficient in a line which is demanding greater attention each year, and in which more difficult examinations are being given.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM BROOKS HAZELTON.

Report of Supervisor of Music

Mr. Frank Benedict, Superintendent:

The status of music in public education has completely changed within the last decade. Many educators of today agree that music if properly taught, has as strong claims to an educational rating as any other subject.

The plan of work is as follows:

Grade I. At the end of the first year the class should sing at sight melodies containing any progressions within the first five tones of the major scale.

The class should sing at least twenty-five rote songs with good tone quality and intelligent interpretation.

Grade II. At the end of the second year the class should be able to sing at sight melodies containing the different progressions of the entire scale with the First Time Motion. The class should sing at least twenty new rote songs. Pitch names of the lines and spaces.

Grade III. Sing at sight different melodies containing any progressions within the scale and around "Do." The process of finding "do" from the fifteen sharp and flat signatures.

Individual singing.

Written work.

Grade IV. At the end of the fourth year the class should sing melodies at sight in any key.

The first step in chromatics.

The first, second, and third Time Motions.

Compound Time.

Individual singing.

Grade V. Study of Chromatic tones.

Work on Time Motions and Compound Time.

The Arithmetic of Music.

Grade VI. The Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Time Motions.

Song interpretation.

Individual singing.

Written work.

Grade VII. At the close of the seventh year the class should be able to read at sight two or three part songs and exercises in any key, containing any scale and chromatic progressions and any combination of the seven time motions in Common and Compound Time.

Grades VIII and IX.

Review and application of all principles.

Song interpretation.

Four part singing.

I would recommend a new piano for the High School. The old piano is practically useless as the tone is almost gone.

AGNES E. BOLAND.

Report of Attendance Officers

Cochituate, Mass., Dec. 23, 1915.

To the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Benedict,

Dear Sir:—

During the last year I have had seven (7) cases of absence to investigate and have found no case of truancy.

HENRY G. DUDLEY.

Wayland, Mass., Dec. 17, 1915.

Mr. F. H. Benedict,

Superintendent of Schools.

Dear Sir:—

During the past year I have had six cases of absence to investigate and found no cases of truancy.

Respectfully submitted,

J. C. VINCENT.

Report of School Physician

To the Superintendent of Schools:—

At the request of the school committee, during the recent local outbreak of diphtheria I took cultures from the throats of all teachers, pupils and janitor at the Cochituate Grammar School, the result of which showed three suspected cases, but by second culture only one proved to be positive. This child was excluded from school until two negative cultures were reported.

A few cases of one of the common skin diseases has necessitated excluding nine different pupils from school attendance during the school year.

OSCAR A. DUDLEY, M. D.,
School Physician.

Report of Agricultural Agent

General Report

The District Junior Extension Bureau of South Middlesex County was organized early in the Spring of 1915 through the Extension Service of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture cooperating. Individuals interested in the movement held a meeting in Framingham to which representatives of surrounding towns were invited for the purpose of forming a bureau to promote work among the school children, especially that of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of the State, of which Prof. O. A. Morton is the state leader. As a result of this meeting, which representatives of the Massachusetts Agricultural College attended, the Bureau was formed with the following participants; Framingham, Natick, Wayland, County Training School at Chelmsford, Holliston and Sherborn. Mr. N. I. Bowditch of Framingham was chosen Chairman, Mr. E. H. Howard of Framingham, Secretary-Treasurer, who, with a representative from each town, formed an executive committee to direct the work of the agent and to whom the agent was responsible. The representatives from the towns were as follows; Framingham, Mr. N. I. Bowditch; Natick, Rev. A. A. Felch; Wayland (Mr. F. C. Remick, deceased), later Dr. Philip S. Ide; County Training School, Mr. Rufus E. Corlew; Holliston, Supt. of Schools, Carroll E. Drown and Sherborn, Mr. N. B. Douglass. Frederick A. Castle was chosen as agent and assumed his duties March 10, 1915.

The financial arrangements were as follows; $100. per month was supplied by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to be paid the agent as salary. This was guaranteed through June, with good prospects for continuance. However, this appropriation was discontinued after June 30th but $200. was later available from the Government.

$1200. was to be raised by local subscription of which $25.00 per month was to be paid the agent, the rest of this fund to be applied in office expenses, transportation, etc. It was necessary to raise $1200. locally in order to secure the government aid. The local fund was supplied in the following way. Framingham contributed $200. cash and was credited with $250. for the use of a desk and clerical assistance in the Supt. of Schools office. Natick, Wayland and the County Training School of Chelmsford each gave $200., Holliston $100. and Sherborn $50. Each town paid in half of their appropriation at the beginning and after June 30th all the towns with the exception of the County Training School at Chelmsford paid in the other half which made it possible to continue the work. The County Training School thus did not continue membership in the Bureau.

The method of organizing was briefly to go into the school room and explain the work outlined by the Bureau and invite any boy or girl 10 to 18 years of age to enter any of the State Clubs which include a (1) Home Economics, (2) Poultry, (3) Corn, (4) Potato, (5) Hay, (6) Market Garden, (7) Pig, and (8) Canning Club, and to those who do not wish to undertake so large a project and for the younger boys and girls was offered the Home Garden Club where no limitations were set on area or age. A minimum area of 1-20th acre was allowed for the Market Garden Club, $\frac{1}{8}$ th for the Potato and Hay Clubs and $\frac{1}{2}$ acre for the Corn Club. At least six hens were necessary to enter the Poultry Club and one or more pigs could be entered in the Pig Club. Entries for the Home Economics Club had closed when the agent assumed his duties so no enrolments were secured in this club.

In the State Club the first prize is a trip to Washington, D. C., the second prize a three day trip in the state and third a week's trip to the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst. In the Home Garden Club, pins furnished by the state were given to those doing good work in gardens.

The agent found superintendents, principals and teachers very favorably disposed toward the club work on the whole and they have assisted in every way to make the work a success.

Although some boys and girls did not undertake the projects after enrolling, the majority have kept up their interest and have made a creditable showing. There is every reason to believe that a much larger enrollment will be secured next year as the teachers and pupils now realize what the clubs really are.

All of the towns in the bureau granted either a whole or half day from school in order that the children might attend the South Middlesex Fair at Framingham on Children's Day. Free tickets were supplied by the Fair and each town provided free transportation of exhibits to and from the Fair grounds. The idea of exhibiting furnishes a stimulus to many boys and girls through the year to do better work than they otherwise would and the competition is strong enough to maintain a high standard of excellence.

The figures do not tell the whole story. In many instances the club member has moved or decided to leave for a part of the summer or has taken a job for the summer. They have received the primer of instruction and had the advice of the agent on their particular problem so even though they do not complete the contest they have received instructions which will be of value.

Wayland

The school children of both Wayland and Cochituate were invited to join the clubs with the following results.

	Joined	Finished
Hay	0	0
Corn	1	0
Market Garden	9	4
Potato	9	4
Pig	1	1

Poultry	13	8
Canning	38	10
Home Garden	33	27

Each boy and girl who joined the clubs received a primer of instruction and often advice from the agent so that even though some did not undertake or complete the work they did receive instruction about the project they were interested in. The agent visited the Home Garden Club members in Cochituate and Wayland and although no remarkably good gardens were found, some members did well and will improve next year. One silver and celluloid pins were given to those doing the best work. The children in Wayland are slow to take up the club work but should do very well once it is established. In Cochituate a little more interest has been manifested and better results can be obtained next year.

The agent visited the members of the State Clubs as often as time permitted. The number of visits ranged from two to five depending somewhat on the needs of the member and remoteness from railway connection. Instruction was given in planting, cultivating, controlling insect and fungus attacks; methods of care and feeding to those in the Poultry and Pig Clubs and instruction about making out reports and writing the story at the close of the contests.

The teachers of the Cochituate School are doing considerable departmental work to equalize the burden and give all classes a due proportion of the time for instruction. Classes in rooms four and six go to room five for recitation work and a class in room three goes to room one for reading.

Report of Library Trustees

In pursuance of the policy of increasing the facilities for use of the library in ratio with the growing requirements of the town, the trustees, at the beginning of the present fiscal year added one more day each week for opening the main library and reading room. The building is now open Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, afternoon and evening. An indication of the appreciation of this is shown in the increased circulation of over one thousand volumes during the year, in this department.

The use of the Cochituate branch and reading room shows a most gratifying, even surprising growth. The seven years following its inauguration showed a steadily increasing circulation, from 2237 volumes in 1907-8, to 10,326 volumes in the year ending Feb. 1, 1915. For this year and the two preceding, its circulation exceeded that of the main library.

During the past year a thorough revision of the catalogue has been made, in which obsolete or worthless titles, which inevitably accumulate in every library, have been eliminated, giving much needed room in the stacks, and leaving the shelves filled with only useful and valuable books.

The item of expense for repairs this year has been very large. The furnaces, after fifteen years' use, had become badly cracked, making it necessary to practically rebuild them, at a cost of over $400. As the trustees had an appropriation of only $100 for repairs available, other expenditures had to be severely curtailed. The purchase of new books in consequence has this year been very small. Owing to the kindness and generosity of friends, however, in gifts of books, as reference to the librarian's report will show, this need of the library has been fully met.

As the age of the library building increases, the item of repair expenses must naturally be larger, and the trustees would most earnestly recommend an increased appropriation for this purpose.

The annual report of the librarian to the trustees is herewith submitted, with list of accessions for the year.

Water Commissioners' Report

At a meeting of the Water Commissioners, February 18th, the Board was organized with James C. McKay, Chairman, and Clarence S. Williams, Clerk.

James H. Whitehead was re-appointed Superintendent of Works.

Considering the fact that the Water Department was out of debt, the Board decided to take steps to improve conditions at the reservoir and voted to consult Engineer J. J. Van Valkenburg of Framingham, with that purpose in view.

During the month of July heavy rains fell and overflowed the swamps and replaced the clear water in the reservoir with swamp water, which was very objectionable at the faucets.

The engineer made recommendations and submitted plans to pipe off the water coming from the swamps, besides cleaning up work on the reservoir. These plans and recommendations were referred to the State Board of Health for their advice.

The following letters were received regarding further work on the water supply:

Letter No. One

Framingham, Mass., Oct. 5, 1915.

To the Water Commissioners,
Wayland, Mass.

Dear Sirs:—

At your request, I have recently made an investigation of the conditions existing at the reservoirs of the Town's water works system, particularly with reference to what immediate steps should be taken to improve the quality of the water.

Marked improvement has been made about the reservoirs during the last ten years in the appearance of the shore lines. Trees and brush have been cut well back from the water and low places along the easterly side of the lower reservoir have been filled.

The quality of the water, however, has not become much better. It is still the most highly colored of any public water supply in the State and is at certain seasons decidedly objectionable to taste.

A few facts regarding the source of your water supply will explain why the quality of your water is comparatively so poor. The accompanying plan will assist in describing the situation.

There are two reservoirs. The lower reservoir, No. 1, has an area of 7.6 acres. The upper reservoir, No. 2, has an area of 4.6 acres and is generally about one foot higher than the other.

The two reservoirs are separated by a low dyke which at certain seasons of the year is overflowed.

The water in the upper end of No. 1 reservoir and the whole of No. 2 is very shallow and during dry season a considerable area of their bottoms is unwatered.

Into the upper end of No. 2 reservoir flows a stream of considerable size during wet seasons. The source of this stream is in a wooded swamp an area of about 32 acres. Several large sized springs are located along the upper edge of the swamp where indicated on the plan. The whole surface of this area and to a considerable depth is covered with water soaked leaves, fallen trees and other vegetation—the accumulation of ages.

The lower reservoir also has several springs directly connected with it and the drainage of a considerable area of swamp land. This reservoir in itself has naturally much better water than what collects in No. 2 reservoir. Owing, however, to the fact that it receives so much swamp-drained water from the overflow of No. 2 reservoir its quality is considerably impaired, it becomes highly colored and is at times unpalatable. I quote from a report made some years ago by the State Board of Health regarding your Water Supply.

"The results of analyses show that the water of the reservoir is generally highly colored and contains frequently an excessive quantity of organic matter and that it is often objectionable for drinking and other domestic purposes on account of a disagreeable taste and odor. The objectionable quality of the water of the reservoir is evidently due principally to the character of the reservoir, which is very shallow and contains much organic matter in its bottom."

From the report of the Construction Committee under date of 1879, it is learned that one-half of the reservoir (The present reservoirs were originally one), is less than 3 feet deep and was covered with a rank vegetable growth, and that nothing was done to the land flowed but to cut the brush—a portion of that was not removed owing to the reservoir being filled earlier than was anticipated.

Undoubtedly it has been frequently recommended that the reservoirs be cleaned. Were this done it would surely result in some good, but the benefits derived would not in my judgment be sufficiently great to warrant the expenditure of so large an amount of money as would be required to accomplish the work of a thorough cleaning.

I believe the very best thing that can be done for a comparatively small sum of money is first to raise the dyke between the two reservoirs and extend it as shown on the plan so that the water in the upper reservoir shall have no direct connection with the lower one.

A 20 inch vitrified pipe drain should then be laid extending from below the wasteway of the lower reservoir to a manhole at the upper reservoir where indicated on the plan in red ink. Assuming the elevation of No. 1 reservoir to be 100 and No. 2 reservoir to be 101 then the drain at its upper end will be at 97.5 or $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet below No. 1 and $3\frac{1}{2}$ feet below No. 2 reservoir. In the manhole there will be a gate and an overflow which will control the elevation of the water in reservoir No. 2.

By means of this drain during wet seasons large quantities of swamp drained water can be prevented from entering No. 1 reservoir and conducted below the dam.

The estimated cost of doing this work is as follows :—

700 lineal feet of 20 inch pipe laid complete
@ $1.70	$1,190.00
Manhole complete, including gate and locked cover	130.00
Dyke construction, 150 cu. yds. filling @ $1.00	150.00
Stonework	75.00
Deepening channel	75.00
	$1,620.00
Add 15 per cent for engineering and contingencies	243.00
Total
	$1,863.00

The next thing that should be done is to open up the swamp drainage areas by means of a system of ditches which will allow the spring water to flow directly to your reservoir without first seeping through acres of decaying vegetable matter.

I can give no estimate of the cost of doing this drainage work. During the winter a survey should be made of the swamps and the ditches located to the best advantage. It is too late in the season and too wet to start ditching. Having decided upon a plan of drainage the construction could be carried on at such times as the seasons would permit.

The 20 inch drain and the dyke could and should be built this year.

Respectfully submitted,

J. J. VAN VALKENBURGH.

Letter No. Two

October 22, 1915.

To the Wayland Water Board,
Cochituate, Massachusetts.

Mr. Clarence S. Williams, Clerk.

Gentlemen:—

The State Department of Health has considered your application of October 4, 1915, as to a certain proposed plan of improving the water supply of Wayland, has considered the plan presented by your engineer, and has examined the results of analyses of the water of your present sources of supply.

The results of these analyses show that the water of the lower basin on Snake Brook, from which your supply is drawn, is one of the most highly colored waters used for water supply purposes in the State. The water is also at times affected by growths of organisms which impart to the water a disagreeable taste and odor. These conditions, while objectionable, are not known to be injurious to health, and since the water of your reservoir does not appear to be exposed to serious danger of pollution at the present time, the water is undoubtedly safe for drinking.

The water of the upper basin, so called, located just above the lower basin, is more highly colored and contains a larger quantity of organic matter than the water in the lower basin, and there is furthermore a swamp above the upper basin having an area of about 32.4 acres, through which the water flows very slowly, and it undoubtedly derives a large part of its color and organic matter through contact with the vegetable matter in this swamp.

According to the reports relating to the water works, a large part of the original area flowed by the reservoir was covered with a thick vegetable growth when the reservoir was originally constructed, but since that time considerable money has been expended in improving the lower basin and removing mud and other organic matter from the shallow portions. The upper basin, however, is still quite shallow and has a mud bottom.

The plan now submitted provides for the construction of a small dike across the lower end of an arm of the lower basin through which the water of the upper basin overflows and for laying a pipe from the wasteway of the lower basin up to a manhole to be constructed on the west bank of the upper basin just above the proposed dike. This pipe is designed to remove flood waters, which would naturally pass through the lower basin around that basin to an outlet into the wasteway below the dam. The proposed pipe line and appurtenances appear to be adequate for the purpose for which they are designed, the cost of the works would be comparatively small, and it is probable that the construction of these proposed works would result in some improvement in the quality of the water supplied to the town, but the water would undoubtedly continue to be highly colored and would contain at times growths of organisms which would impart to it a noticeable taste and odor. The improvement would be more effective if, in addition to the proposed works, the swamp above the upper basin were properly drained so that water from the watershed about it would be conveyed quickly to the reservoir and water were prevented from standing upon the swamp for any considerable time, but even with this improvement added, the water supplied to the town would still have the characteristics which make it objectionable at the present time, though in a less marked degree.

The water could be materially improved by proper filtration, but filtration is impracticable without pumping since the head under which the water is supplied is naturally very small.

In view of the unsatisfactory quality of the water and the low pressure under which it is supplied, and especially in view of the probable cost of an effective improvement of this water, it seems advisable for the town to investigate the practicability of securing a supply of ground water either from Natick, from which water is obtained occasionally under present conditions, or from independent works, which might be located in the neighborhood of Lake Cochituate at no great distance from the village. The initial cost of a new supply would not be great and, while there would be the added cost of pumping, it would be practicable to extend the works to supply other very thickly settled portions of the town, and the cost of a new supply under the circumstances would not be likely to be a serious added burden above the cost of the improvements proposed in the present source.

Considering the circumstances, it is the opinion of this Department that it is inadvisable to attempt improvement of the present supply unless the improvement is going to be great enough to insure a water of satisfactory quality, and the Department recommends that you investigate the practicability and cost of obtaining a water supply from the town of Natick or from independent sources in the neighborhood of the village, designing the works with a view to supplying other portions of the town, to which it is advisable that the public service be extended.

By direction of the Commissioner of Health,

X. H. GOODNOUGH,

Chief Engineer.

Report of Cemetery Commissioners

The money appropriated by the town for the care of its cemeteries for the year has been expended with care, and is reflected in the slowly but steadily improved general appearance of all three cemeteries.

Since our last annual report the town has received as gifts two funds of one hundred dollars each, making a total of twenty-four funds, amounting to thirty-one hundred dollars, incomes from which are for perpetual care of individual lots.

Appended is statement showing balances held subject to order of the commissioners on December 31st, 1915.

LESTER R. GERALD

Collector.

Total collections for the year $53,248.61.

The unpaid taxes of 1914 and 1915 will have to be cleaned up this year. The past year I have had to advertise several Estates and hope I will not have to resort to advertising the above two years. Will have collected to date over $5,000 on 1917 account since handing in report. I hope the tax payers will co-operate with the collector in making a clean up of the 1914 and 1915 taxes.

Report of the School Committee

To the Citizens of Wayland:

When considering the questions of Town administration we should bear in mind the ever shrinking purchasing power of the dollar, making it necessary to spend more dollars each year if the present standard is to be maintained, or a higher one established in any department.

Wayland cannot afford to let its schools go backward. The law demands that seven years of each child's life shall be spent in the school room, custom and the demands of business keep them so occupied ten or more years. The parents should demand that these years be well spent. The quality of a school is exactly equal to the quality of the teaching staff, and the only way to keep a good teaching staff is to pay the teachers as well as they can hope to be paid any where. The demand by the teachers for increased salaries is State wide and must be thoughtfully considered.

In this connection it is interesting to note that among the 353 towns of Massachusetts, Wayland ranks Fifty-Ninth in valuation per pupil and One Hundred Eighty Sixth in the amount of money raised annually for educational purposes so that we are not spending more money than the average town on our schools but rather a little less.

During the summer vacation the Wayland Schoolhouse was turned over to a special committee appointed to provide it with adequate fire protection. The building had been sweepingly condemned by the District Police as might be expected in the case of a public building twenty years old.

The orders of the District Police have been carried out to the letter. New heating and ventilating equipment of the best quality and modern sanitariums of approved type have been installed. Changes have been made in the building to promote the safety and best interests of the scholars. It is believed that we now have a building that will meet the requirements of the town for many years to come.

Your Committee recommends an appropriation for varnishing the interior wood work and for painting the walls and ceilings of the rooms. It is over twelve years since any work of that sort, worth mentioning, has been done, and then it was at the expense of one of our generous fellow townsmen. The outside rooms to the basement should be roofed over as a measure of safety and comfort for the children.

Transportation is the bogy of school administration because of its increasing cost, its many troublesome phases, difficult of adjustment. Is it any comfort to know that Wayland meets this problem as well as the average town and more economically than many? This State spent for transportation the sum of $400,000 last year, or 14% of all the money raised for rural schools. Wayland's streets are many and long. The school children are widely scattered. Yet the schools are open every day, the average attendance is high, and the health reports are very good. Can any one ask for more?

Your Committee asks your co-operation and help, a little forbearance now and then, and patience always in this troublesome matter that is governed by many conditions that are beyond our control.

Your Committee feels that the growth and improvement in the Wayland schools the last five years is not fully appreciated. We recommend that everyone read the reports of the Superintendent of Schools and the Principal of the High School. It will be seen thereby that the Wayland Schools are giving more efficient service each year and are capable now of giving any boy or girl as good a primary and high school education as can be given in any school anywhere.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE F. POUTASSE,
ERNEST E. SPARKS,
PHILIP S. IDE,

School Committee.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the School Committee:

Gentlemen:—I take pleasure in presenting for your consideration at this time my seventh annual report. It is the nineteenth in the series.

Each year there has been recorded in the annual report of the superintendent of schools for at least five successive years a section relative to the heating plant, the ventilating system, and the sanitaries in the Wayland Building, together with a fire protection anxiety. Each year the statement grew more insistent as to the need. The needs of the boys and girls attending school in this building have been constantly before the School Committee. There is great pleasure in recording in these annals the fact that the undesirable conditions no longer exist, that a deed of much moment in the educational life of the town has been accomplished.

There has come to the Wayland school building extensive remodelling and repairing. That loathsome, never should have been, worn out sanitary system is a thing of the past. Every parent should take a refreshing breath of satisfaction that a constant daily source of danger to the health of the children has been removed from the school building. The modern new sanitaries should indeed bring joy to all.

The rats, their filth and mischief, are gone too, as the building no longer offers them a safe retreat.

Instead of cold or over heated rooms and vicious ventilation, we now have rooms well ventilated and heated. While we have as yet had no severe weather to test the capacity of the heating plant there is practically no danger of being in error if the statement is made that the heating plant is handsomely adequate.

The children seem properly protected from fire hazard. Effective fire drills are possible and have been carefully worked out. The building is vacated in good form when using both exits in less than fifty seconds as a rule. In sending them all from one of the entrances the time is of necessity longer. There is very little likelihood of there being an exigency so severe and sudden as to require the use of one exit for emptying of the building. Since there is this possibility, improbable as it may seem, the fire drills will embody both forms of leaving the building.

Thus far I have spoken of the changes in the building that have dealt with the comfort, health, and safety of the children. There is one other result worthy of record.

The item worthy of elaboration and explanation is in the improved quarters of the high school. The high school now has four adequate recitation rooms, a typewriting room of proper size, which is so placed and furnished as to have all the machines under supervision of a teacher at all times. The rooms are so arranged and the means of egress and ingress such that the classes are enabled to pass with a minimum loss of time, no confusion, and under constant supervision. Hence there is better order in the school and the teachers are taxed far less to maintain control than heretofore. Furthermore, the hall which was too large for a recitation room, no longer offers an exhaustive hour to a teacher and a poor recitation—both expensive school liabilities.

On the other hand we do not have the once very pleasant small hall, used occasionally in the past, but for two years unusable on account of the fire hazard—unusable for entertainments until a considerable outlay for fire protection should be made. If the advantages on the side of retaining the hall are balanced with the positive advantages to the school by diverting the hall space to the needs of the school the balance sheet will show an accruing good to the school that will exceed in goodly measure the community value of the hall.

Laboratory work is now done in a room distinctly for this purpose. In a school wherein the Master has as many duties and cares and as many recitation periods as the small school demands there is much to be gained in having a room for laboratory work in which before and after school preparations may be made without the apparatus being disturbed by other classes, or causing disturbances to them.

The efficiency of the high school has been greatly increased through the remodelling and repairing of the building.

As a matter of fire protection as well as of school management the placing of the Manual Training room in the basement is a decided gain over the attic quarters. The schools are no longer disturbed by the classes passing through halls and corridors and the noise is much lessened—entirely removed from the high school—lessened for the grades.

The manual training classes, I am pleased to note, have assisted in the remodelling of the building to the extent of doing the necessary cementing preparatory for the floor laying in the manual training room, have laid the floor, and have taken the benches from the old room and set them up in the new room. They are now engaged in constructing suitable closets. An examination will bring forth the fact that the work is well done. The boys have received a very practical lesson. We could do better by the boys were more such lessons possible.

The walls and ceilings of the class rooms and corridors need refinishing and the wood work revarnishing. There is need of twenty-five or thirty desks. The desk need is not new. One of the small rooms should be fitted up for serving lunches. Then Wayland would possess a modern building, properly equipped, modernly heated and ventilated, well lighted, indeed very satisfactory as a workshop and school home.

The forward look as to expenditures for education is worthy of note. All school supplies have advanced in price extensively, some papers having doubled in value.

Although special efforts are being made to prevent waste and although much study is given as to curtailing the use of school supplies without lessening the efficiency of the work, the annual cost of books and other supplies will be, has been greatly increased, without any increase in the amount of consumption. The salaries of teachers in the grades, especially, need to be advanced in order to maintain a salary level that will attract a teaching staff as efficient as at present. Transportation is costing much more the current year than last year and there seems to be no way of curtailing in this direction. We have received $693.75 for tuition and transportation of State and City wards and tuition from the town of Natick. This will be less for the next fiscal year. It seems therefore almost imperative to ask for a larger appropriation than heretofore, for general expenses.

One year ago the Cochrute Sewing Department Fund had a balance of $30.97. By your direction one sewing machine and three cutting tables were purchased. The account follows:

Dec. 31, 1915, Balance on Hand		$30.97
Jan. 31, 1916, Cash-Singer Sewing Machine	$23.04
Feb. 12, Cash, Three Cutting Tables	6.08	29.12
Dec. 31, 1916 Balance		$1.85

There was on deposit one year ago with the Natick Five Cents Savings Bank the sum of $98.36, known as the High School Piano Fund. The high school needed a piano so much that the students gave a second entertainment to increase the funds. Soon after it was my pleasure to send to several of our citizens a statement of our needs and efforts and I asked for such consideration as each recipient might give the need. The response was both immediate and generous, most gratifying in spirit. We were soon in possession of a Mehlin upright piano, shipped directly to us from the factory, which proved so satisfactory that it was purchased. We are much pleased with the piano.

It is a pleasure to place on record the sources from which funds for the piano have been received.

The high school students, assisted by Miss Boland, Mrs. Sarah Snow, Mrs. Edna Marston, and teachers gave the proceeds of two entertainments. Seven Cochituate ladies contributed the proceeds of a whist conducted by them. Cochituate Grange gave the use of their hall. The public generously supported these entertainments. The following gave cash contributions—Frank H. Benedict, W. Herbert Moore, Class of 1913, Class of 1914, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Draper, Mr. Charles A. Phipps, Mr. Wallace S. Draper, Mr. E. F. Greene, Mr. Benjamin Whitney and Miss Whitney, Charles W. Dean, Mrs. Jane Patterson, Mr. A. I. Hadley, Dr. W. H. Seward, Jr., Mr. H. E. Carson, Mr. W. H. Hunting, Mr. Francis Shaw, and the Social Union.

Through the good offices of Mrs. Jessica Henderson the interest of Mr. F. C. Henderson of the F. C. Henderson Company were enlisted so that a personal contribution was made by Mr. Henderson after the liberal school discount had been granted.

There is now the sum of $15 to be paid F. H. Benedict who advanced this sum as the purchasing arrangements were made on a cash basis.

You will note that I have included in this report a table or chart showing the distributon of the children of the grammar and high schools in accordance to age and grade. The Chart is the result of the study of our conditions in respect to retardation. The heavy line indicates the number of children who are in classes or grades that have progressed yearly since entering school, provided that such children entered school at the age limit required in Wayland, five yeears. Some of the causes of retardation are—not entering at the normal age, absences, illness, low vitality, changes in the place of residence, natural slowness in developement, poor vision, defective hearing.

Since children normally and naturally vary in their physical and mental developement, roughly speaking, within the limits of three years, those children listed in the second oblique column to the right of the heavy line need cause no anxiety as they are developing at their own individual rate. Thereafter the children need our constant care and the interest of the home to spur them into greater effort.

In comparing charts in other school systems showing the age and grade progress the varying practices as to the age required to enter school and the number of grades in the system should be carefully considered. Otherwise an erroneous idea of our own conditions will be obtained.

In the process of investigating the retardation question as found in the Wayland schools the organization of our schools on a nine and four grade basis has been studied also with much care. An eight and four grade basis is becoming more and more the practice in the towns and cities of the State and quite largely the established practice without Massachusetts while in many localities there has come into being the Junior High School, or six and six plan. We are also hearing of the establishment of the six, three and three plan in connection with the Junior high school. Our building accommodations are such that years must elapse and much growth in school population take place before the Junior High school shall find a place in our school administration. The placing of the elementary schools on an eight grade basis commends itself with some measure of certainty.

The four teachers at the Center have nine groups of children to handle and nearly as many children as do the six teachers of the Cochituate school. The children enter the first grade at ages varying from five to six and a half years. Hence the first grade teacher yearly meets a class of much varied maturity. The children of the Center come long distances in many cases and for the most part by barge and car so that the first three years there are many absences. These children are obliged to leave the school at the closing hour and the noon hour is abbreviated to a mere recess and lunch period. Hence there is very little time for individual work to overcome losses from absence or for making a grade in case the child entered later in life than the larger part of the class.

In view of the facts stated it is my pleasure to recommend that a change be made in the administration of the schools, that we change from a thirteen grade system to a twelve grade system, four grades in the high school and eight years in the elementary schools, the meantime making the entrance age five years eight months September first for the Wayland school. At Cochituate we may profitably maintain a subprimary grade, the entrance age being four years eight months. The Cochituate organization will then continue as at present, the Wayland organization will be such as to improve the work.

We should then have our schools organized in accord with the modern trend in school management. The center children for the most part will be one year older when transportation begins. The center teachers will have two grades to a room, older children to work with in the first grade, and therefore accomplish more than at present. There will be more time for individual work as the time of the teachers will be distributed among eight groups of children rather than nine.

This recommendation is in my opinion of prime importance and should receive your careful consideration.

Your attention is especially directed to the School Physician's report. Much more extensive work has been done by Dr. Sylvester than has been done for some years. The compensation is not a consideration with him except in part apparently.

Through the benevolence of Mrs Jessica Henderson the members of the Junior and Senior classes entered a contest that involved the preparation of a theme. The topic given for a subject was "How to Secure Permanent Peace." Two cash prizes were offered as an incentive for making the efforts of the contestants vigorous and interesting. Mr. George G. Bogren was awarded the first prize. Mr. George M. Burke was awarded the second prize.

The last word will never be said to parents I fear in regard to attendance. The boys and girls of the upper grades and of the high school should be made to understand that their school work is their first business, that their school appointments are as important as are all business appointments, that registration in school means they have agreed to perform the work set by the teachers as solemnly as they will ever agree to perform any piece of work. The habit of keeping appointments will be fostered thereby. The habit of keeping an agreement as to the accomplishing of a piece of work will be in process of formation. The immediate result will be better school work.

Report of Principal of High School

Mr. Frank H. Benedict, Superintendent of Schools:—

Dear Sir:—

My sixth annual report of the Wayland High School is herewith presented for your consideration.

The installation of the new heating plant and re-arrangement of rooms brings much satisfaction to those in close relation with the work of this school. Our citizens should feel glad that the old worn out plant and its attendant unhealthful conditions no longer exist. !

It is now possible to keep the rooms at an even temperature and well ventilated. These conditions are among and the first essentials for good work by both pupils and teachers. The separation of the main hall into two classrooms is proving a great aid in the management of the high school. Much time is saved and confusion avoided in the changing of classes at the end of periods. Many of the alumni naturally express regret at the loss of the old assembly hall with its stage. But this room was too large for a recitation room and was no longer large enough for ordinary school plays or meeting of like character. The main room will easily accomodate for morning assembly a greater number of pupils than the High School will probably have for many years to come.

We have had three meetings of the Athletic Club this year and this room is fully adequate for the purpose.

The new arrangement also makes it possible to have the typewriting room always under the supervision of a teacher

We hope that provision will be made soon for equipping the commercial room with regular business desks. I believe that these desks would do much in improving the business course.

I think it is fitting to call attention to certain good results of our business course. During the last four years it has been our regulation that pupils in this course must, before graduation, complete all groups prescribed in the commercial work. Also the greater and more important part of the course is required during the last two years when it is hoped that students really desirous of making use of the business training will concentrate their most earnest efforts. Last June four of the eleven graduates were students of the commercial course and three, with no other training than that of the High School, are this year holding good positions, while the fourth is taking advanced training at Burdett Business College. The other seven graduates entered the following higher institutes of learning;—one at Harvard, two at Tufts, one at Framingham Normal School, two at Wentworth Institute, and one at the Framingham Business School.

In order to show the various choices made by the pupils leaving Wayland High School, I am including in this report statistics regarding graduates and non-graduates of the school during the last five years ending with June, 1916. During this time we have recorded fifty-eight graduates and fifty-three non-graduates.

(* Entered another line of work after two years of successful teaching.)

Under the heading "Business," I have grouped those graduates who have finally entered some line of employment without any special training beyond that of the high school. It will be noted that the percentage of graduates choosing more advanced school work has increased during the last two years. Three of the ten who have entered college during the last five years are at Harvard and Radcliffe upon examination.

Reasons for leaving Wayland High School

2d Year		4	7	5	16
3d Year	2	4		5	11
4th Year	2	1		1	4
Totals	4	10	13	26	53

In Table II, I have tried to show as faithfully as possible, the number of non-graduates and the apparent reason for their leaving school during the period of 1911 to 1916. It is a difficult problem to assign exact reasons why some pupils leave school. Failure to do good work and the resulting failure to be promoted with the class seems to be a principal reason.

But the reasons for failures are various. Many poor scholars have to repeat the work of several grades but are finally allowed to pass on and try high school work. Many of them after a few weeks or months realize their inability to do the work and drop out. There are, however, a greater number who really have ability to do high school work, but they simply do not or will not seize, until too late, the opportunities open to them in a high school education.

Again failure is often due to irregular attendance at school or to lack of concentration due to the fact that outside interests are allowed to divert the mind of the pupil from his studies. We have few, if any, failures from pupils whose chief business is to attend school regularly and who do their school work first.

It may be noted that the majority of cases of leaving school because of failure appears during or at the end of the first year. Of the twenty-six who left school after failing in high school only two are known to have continued school work. One finally went to business school and one to trade school. As might be expected, the greater number who leave to go to work are in the two middle years. All of the thirteen who moved from town did so because the business of the family changed and all continued high school work elsewhere. Of the four who left and attended other schools, two went to Cambridge High and Latin School, one to Boston College High, and one to study telegraphy at Framingham Business School.

The total enrolment of the high school this year is sixty-three. Many high schools within manufacturing communities report their enrolment smaller this year because of the easy and attractive prices paid for labor.

One of the things which we are aiming to improve by a large percentage before the end of the school year is the daily attendance. Illness of pupils makes very bad work of a school record, but there should be no tardiness. Tardiness is a bad habit and there are few excuses that can be offered for it. It detracts much from the recommendation that can be given a pupil either for college or for a business position. There are certain schools in the state which place great importance upon this matter and pupils are required to return to school on Saturday and do work of any kind for a time proportionate to their poor record of the week. I sincerely hope that parents will co-operate with us in improving our records for tardiness by seeing that their children leave home in time to reach school before the beginning of the session.

A new Mehlin piano was placed in high school hall last June. I take pleasure in thanking in behalf of the school, all those who contributed in any way towards obtaining this excellent piano.

I wish to thank you and the School Committee for your cordial support during the past year, and the teachers for their earnest co-operation in working for the best interests of every pupil.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM H. MOORE.

Report of School Physician

F. H. Benedict, Superintendent:—

Since my election as School Physician I have examined 334 children in Wayland schools, as follows:

Wayland,———173.

Defective teeth,—77 cases.

Diseased tonsils and adenoids in most of them,—12 cases.

Pediculosis,—6 cases.

DETAILS OF THE GRADES

3	VI-VIII	17	3	1	30
3	VIII-IX	4	2	0	21
High	X-XI-XII-XIII	17	1	0	56

I have found a number of cases of heart disease, but as they were usually functional and would disappear later I have not alarmed the parents by sending them cards.

The Wayland school building is in good condition, sanitary and kept clean. The teachers seem to take pride in keeping the rooms bright and cheerful. The arrangement of this building does much credit to somebody, for it seems hardly anything more could be desired to make the children well and happy. From the standpoint of a physician I can suggest nothing.

Total number of pupils examined, 161. Defective teeth, 116 cases.

Diseased tonsils, 17 cases.

Pediculosis, 13 cases.

4	V	16	2	1	25
5	VII-VI	26	3	3	36
6	VIII-IX	15	2	3	26

This building is well cared for by the janitor, and the teachers keep the rooms in good condition. There is almost an entire absence of the school-room air, showing lack of ventilation, so common in many schools. The toilets are not so well ventilated as they ought to be, as in a warm day one gets too much unpleasant odor in the hall. I do not think it can be remedied unless some radical changes are made in the manner in which the bad air is taken from the boy's toilet room.

During the year a card system, similar to that used all through the state has been adopted. One card will last all through a child's school life, so that at graduation it will be easy to trace progressive health or disease.

I think it proper to state that every child in town has received a personal examination, except a few who may have been absent on account of sickness. In every case requiring it, I have sent the parents the cards furnished by the Commonwealth for that purpose.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. SYLVESTER,
School Physician.

Report of Supervisor of Drawing and Manual Training

To Mr. Frank H. Benedict, Supt. of Schools, Town of Wayland,

Dear Sir:—I have the honor of submitting to you the annual report of the Manual Training and Drawing Departments of the Wayland schools.

DRAWING

I wish to say that I found the drawing in the schools at an unusually high standard. In my work this year I have followed the course suggested by the state in order to get progressive and well balanced results.

MANUAL TRAINING

As with the drawing, the Manual Training was found to be in as good condition as in any town of similar advantages.

The older boys, those of the upper grammar grades and the high school, have had a number of highly practical projects to work out. Among these has been the laying of a maple floor in the basement of the High School building. In preparation for laying this floor the boys also had practice in the use of cement. In the next half these boys will finish a room on the second floor of the High School building. This work will require the fitting of window frames, door casings, mop boards, and moulding.

The first year classes are showing an aptitude for their work which promises well for them in their more advanced work in Manual Training.

One thing I wish to suggest for the Industrial Department of Wayland is the facilities for a more varied course. The leaders in this are advocating not simply a course in cabinet making, but a course that will involve the element of many industries such as metal working, pottery making and weaving.

In closing, I wish to express my appreciation to the teachers who have so heartily and patiently co-operated to make the work in drawing a success. I also express my thanks to you for your helpful and constructive criticism.

Respectfully submitted,

EARLE S. RUSSELL,

Supervisor of Drawing and Manual Training.

Report of the Building Committee for the Wayland Center School

In accordance with a vote of the Town at an adjourned Town Meeting called for February 9th, 1916, a special Town Meeting was called for April 5th to hear and act on the report of a special Committee appointed to investigate the needs of adequate fire protection in the Wayland School.

A Committee of the undersigned citizens was elected to carry out as nearly as possible and advisable, in the opinion of the new Committee, the recommendations of the special Committee. For the purposes of carrying out the work, the Town voted unanimously to appropriate and raise the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000.), to appropriate and assess of this amount one thousand dollars ($1,000.), to borrow the remaining seven thousand dollars ($7,000.) on bonds or notes of the Town.

The Committee employed Mr. Harrington Barlow as architect and supervisor of the work.

The plans were drawn by the architect and approved by the District Police. The work was divided into three parts and their importance arranged in the order named.

1. Heating and ventilating.
2. Plumbing.
3. Remodeling of building.

Specifications were drawn up by the architect for each of the separate parts of the work and first-class contractors in each line were permitted to bid.

The bids in the form of sealed proposals were opened in the presence of all the members of the Committee and the contracts were awarded without dissent to the lowest bidder in each case.

For 2-12 section American Ideal Boilers—direct and indirect steam heating and ventilating system complete—bids were received from the following firms:

Buerkel & Company, Inc.
Cleghorn Company
Ingalls & Kendrick, Inc.
Isaac Coffin Company
Lynch & Woodward
Walworth-English-Flett Company

The bids ranged from six thousand two hundred and twenty-five dollars ($6,225.) to five thousand dollars ($5,000). The contract was awarded to Messrs, Lynch & Woodward at five thousand dollars ($5,000.).

For a complete system of latest type flush sanitariums specified in the plumbing contract, bids were received from the following firms:

A. L. Hersum
Buerkel & Company, Inc.

The bids ranged from fourteen hundred and three dollars ($1403.) to nine hundred and eighty-eight dollars ($988.). The contract was awarded to Messrs. William H. Mitchell & Son Company for nine hundred and eighty-eight dollars ($988.).

For the mason and carpenter or general contract work, bids or estimates were received from the following concerns:

Charles Wright

Coughlin & Gallagher
Framingham Construction & Supply Co.
H. C. Haynes
Morris & Mulqueeny
S. A. Barry
Wayland Construction Company

The bids ranged from thirty-eight hundred and forty dollars ($3840.) to twenty-three hundred dollars ($2300.). All the bids for this work were in excess of the amount of money at the disposal of the Committee. The reasons for this appeared to be the indefinite nature of the work, the age of the building, and the continually increasing cost of materials to be used.

It was foreseen that to do a creditable piece of work many jobs that could be estimated in advance would come up as the work proceeded. The Committee felt that, since they did not have available enough money to award a contract, it would be advisable to have the work done by the day with the hope of reducing the cost as they went along. The Committee, therefore, asked for figures for day work and obtained figures for carpenter labor at from $5.30 to $4.50 per day and for common labor from $3.00 to $2.50 per day. The Committee finally arranged with Howard C. Haynes, the lowest bidder both on the contract basis and on the day basis, as follows:

To do the work under the supervision of the architect at not over $4.50 per day for carpenter labor, not over $2.50 per day for common labor, lowest prevailing rate for mason labor and all materials at prevailing retail prices.

In accordance with the recommendations of the special Committee, the use of the third floor for class-room purposes was discontinued. The stairs to the third floor, however, were straightened to comply with orders of the district police and heating apparatus installed so that this floor could be used for school purposes if thought advisable at any future time.

The former school hall was divided into two class rooms and a typewriter room. This arrangement has made possible, we believe, a great improvement in the administration of the High School.

Doors were established between all class-rooms, the hall downstairs divided by smoke partitions and a fire alarm system was installed.

The manual training room was placed in the basement. The manual training boys under the direction of their teacher laid the floor, installed the benches and did a very creditable piece of work. It was thought best to replace the eleven two feet square brick pillars in the basement with Lally columns.

The bricks in these columns and all others removed from old walls were used in the building of new partitions; and most of the lumber and sheathing taken down was used for new construction. Everything possible was done to keep down the cost without impairing the efficiency of the work.

The heating and ventilating system installed in the building is of the best type. The sanitariums also are of the most approved type. Throughout the building, the work done is of a kind that will, we believe, prove satisfactory and economical in the long run.

The Committee regrets the overdraft of fourteen hundred dollars ($1400.) but feels that money has been spent for the best interests of the Town.

Your Committee recommends that the interior woodwork of the High School building be varnished and the walls and ceilings painted.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM L. RAYMOND, Chairman,
GEORGE F. POUTASSE, Secretary,
CLARENCE S. WILLIAMS.

Report of Playground Association

The Playground season of 1916 presented a number of obstacles, most of which were surmountable, others that would require time and radical changes to overcome, but all of them only made the workers feel more like keeping at it, until the playgrounds in Wayland become an established fact and are recognized as essential to the best development of the town, if it wishes to keep pace with the progress of the age.

The average daily attendance at the Cochituate ground was large and satisfactory, being around sixty; while at the supper in July there were over a hundred present.

The 4th of July celebration and fire works opened the season.

There were three directors in daily attendance, and they were needed for so large a number of children.

The directors were as follows:

Mrs. Eleanor Bang, alternating between the two Playgrounds.
Meylert Bruner, Cochituate Playground.

Gerald Henderson, Cochituate Playground.

Grace Atwood, alternating between the two, for three weeks.

Eleanor Marston, alternating for two weeks.

Jane Noel, alternating three weeks in August.

William Southworth, Wayland Centre Playground.

The Cochituate Playground had, for equipment, besides base-ball, tents, croquet, tether ball, see-saws, Kiddie Kars, and quoits.

The boys practised base-ball daily, weather permitting and there were only a few days when they could not play. There were almost weekly games played between the two teams. A silver cup was offered the winner of the series and Cochituate won and carried off the prize.

Lettered caps were also presented the boys playing three full games.

The children were taken on a number of swimming expeditions, picnics, etc.,

The younger children were taught raffia work, sewing, crocheting, knitting, etc., etc.

The need of a building was felt, and will become a necessity if the work is to be continued successfully. There are many objections to the use of the school house basement, which need not be enumerated here.

The tents are entirely inadequate. We suffered the tragedy of having one of them stolen before the season was over.

We must remember that the children are the most valuable asset of any town, city or State, and are worth every effort and outlay.

The children are eager to build and work, and this should be made possible for them, as the best kind of development and education that can be given them.

If a vote of the parents, having children on the Playground were taken, I feel sure that it would be overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the Playground.

The playground at Wayland Centre had substantially the same as Cochituate, with the slight addition of a Tennis Court which the boys helped to construct, and a Post Office made with the children's help. This awakened much interest. There was a storekeeper and postmaster for several weeks. The stock was donated. The Post Office boxes were also donated by Mr. Lovell, and were the old Wayland boxes, bearing names dating many years back.

There were fewer boys at this end of the Town this year to enter into sports, many of the older ones being at work. The condition of the school house and grounds made it extremely difficult to carry on the Playground as successfully as the previous year, and the attendance was smaller. The boys were taken on one or two camping trips over to Lake Walden from which they returned very enthusiastic.

Suppers on the Grand Stand were of weekly occurrence, and apparently greatly enjoyed; a fire-place was constructed of bricks, in which a fire was made and corn cooked for all present, on the last occasion.

The work could be much more satisfactorily carried on with a house of some kind, as has already been said. A place to keep the equipment, a big playroom that could be easily supervised by one person where the children could play in freedom, without disturbing anyone. A place they had helped to build, which belonged to THEM, where they could gather at all seasons for sociability and be in safety, and be taught how to do things. A floor, a roof, a fireplace! And children the better and happier all their lives because of it!

Since Mr. Sears has kindly consented to have a building placed on the Playground, and Mr. Shaw has started the fund for its construction with a generous pledge, all those interested in the welfare of the children ought to take hold and help to make this dream come true.

The Playground Directors' board was donated, where they did not live at home, and thanks are due and hereby tendered to Mrs. Greene and Mrs. Whitney for their cooperation and hospitality in entertaining the Wayland Centre director for several weeks.

Much of the material used by the girls for their sewing was also donated.

Until such time as the Town of Wayland adds supervised Playgrounds to its educational equipment, as is being done elsewhere, the Playground Association should feel it their duty to carry on this important work.

Report of Library Trustees

To the Citizens of the Town of Wayland:—

The trustees respectfully submit the following report.

Our best efforts have been made during the year to efficiently fulfil the duties imposed upon us by our fellow townsmen, by addition of books, attention to the requirements of the two reading rooms, care of the property, and attempts to increase the usefulness of the library.

A comparison of the figures contained in the accompanying annual report of the Librarian to the trustees, with those of previous years, will give a measure of our success.

At the Annual Inspection of the library in October, 4 volumes out of the present 15,190 were unaccounted for.

A suggestion of the Free Public Library Commission of Massachusetts to supply a lecturer to address the children at the schools on "How to use a town library to the best advantage," has been received and we hope to avail ourselves of the offer.

In order that our librarians may have the advantage of discussions of best methods of library administration, helpful ideas and suggestions of other librarians, and mutual co-operation, the Wayland library for several years has been a member of the Newton Neighborhood Library Group. A meeting of this Association was held October 25th at the main library in Wayland. A business meeting was followed by papers on library problems and discussion, after which lunch was served.

We were the recipients of many compliments on the beauty and adaptability of our building.

The catalogue list of new books for the year is herewith submitted.

Water Commissioners' Report

At a special meeting held Feb. 28, 1916, the Board was organized with James C. McKay as Chairman and Clarence S. Williams, Clerk.

Walter S. Bigwood was appointed Superintendent of works.

At a special meeting of the Commissioners April 22, 1916, it was voted to extend 2 in. galvanized pipe on Dudley Road about nine hundred feet to supply six new cottages, and also voted to extend a 2 in. galvanized pipe on Edgewood Road at Shore Acres about fifteen hundred feet to supply seven cottages.

As the water in the reservoir became very high colored and distasteful owing to heavy rains overflowing the swamps about the reservoir, it was decided August 1st to take water from Natick and to draw off the reservoir, and fill with new supply.

Report of Bridge Committee

The Committee appointed to construct a new bridge over the river on Pelham Island Road have finished their work and ask to be discharged.

The original appropriation in 1915 was $5,500. The Luten Engineering Co. of Springfield were engaged as engineers and bids were invited from responsible contractors. The lowest bid was that of the Framingham Construction & Supply Co., $4,565.00, with the additional sum of $98.00 for filling in the old "dry" bridge, and $13.50 per yard for any extra concrete beyond the amount called for in the plans and specifications. The total payment under this contract was $4,663.00 and the fee to the engineers was $819.09, a total of $5,482.00 leaving an unexpended balance of $18.00, to which was added $30.00 by the sale of some of the timbers from the old bridge.

On account of the collapse of the old north abutment, an extra amount of concrete was required and the contractors submitted a bill, approved by the engineers, for 295.10. It seemed to the committee that some question might be raised as to the responsibility of the contractor for the collapse of the abutment, and this bill was therefore submitted to the Town Meeting which voted to pay it.

It was also necessary in order to make a good approach to the bridge from the south, to relay part of the retaining wall of the causeway. The committee having no authority to incur expense for this, the contractor agreed to do the work on the committee's promise to recommend payment for it at the next Town Meeting. This bill amounting to $276.00 was paid by vote of the Town Meeting.

As frequently happens in any concrete work, there are a few small places where the crushed stone came to the surface at the base of the arch, which will need to be re-surfaced with cement occasionally.

The committee wish to record that in all matters they found the contractor ready to meet them fairly, in fact to leave to them the settlement of any doubtful questions, and we believe the Town has got full value for the money expended.
